Occupational therapy (OT) is the use of assessment and intervention to develop, recover, or maintain the meaningful activities, or occupations, of individuals, groups, or communities. It is an allied health profession performed by occupational therapists and occupational therapy assistants (OTA). OTs often work with people with mental health problems, disabilities, injuries, or impairments.

At the beginning of therapy, the therapist helps the client to identify three goals. Since CO-OP is a client-centred approach, the goals are set in partnership with the client and parents/significant others. If goals are personally relevant, the client is more motivated to learn and more engaged in therapy.
